Sonic Boom Flights provides great ground entertainment for your air show. We are insured and will provide you with a certificate of insurance before the air show. We charge $8.00 per person to ride and our payback to you is 20% of our gross which is paid to you before we leave on Sunday evening.

We require a space of 15'X40' to set up and we have our own power supply.

There are 2 capsules in which 2 people ride in each one. Each person is secured in their seat by the same type of safety harness used in military aircraft.

We have five rides that last approximately 4 minutes each. The rides are very realistic as they mimic the exact movements of the aircraft, including the barrel roles.

F-16 Jet Fighter, (actual footage) - footage shot from the cockpit while chasing an unidentified plane from our air space. It takes off and lands, executes 5 barrel roles.

P51 Mustang, (actual footage) - footage shot from the cockpit while doing maneuvers over the Mojave Desert. It takes off and lands, executes 4 barrel roles.

Canyon Rider - This is a computer generated ride of an experimental jet flying in and out of canyons and over mountains. Very fast moving with 6 barrel roles.

Star War - This is also computer generated ride that goes into outer space to chase and destroy aliens. It ends up like the movie "Independence Day", where a jet fighter barrel rolls into the enemy aircraft and blows it up. Very exciting. 3 barrel roles

Survivor - Another space story about people leaving our planet to relocate on another planet in our solar system. 2 barrel roles.
